AUSTRALIAN TRADE.

Extent of the Business—Shipments from San Francisco and Other Ports.

The Canadian Government, through their special agent, Mr. Woods, have published a statement of all the manufactured articles and natural products shipped from New York, Boston and San Francisco—in other words from the U. S.—to the Australian colonies in the months of March and April, 1887. The exports from the United States to those colonies are very large; twenty-two bales of duck was all the dry-goods sent. Of cottons and woollens none were sent. Agricultural implements was one of the chief exports. Twenty-one reapers and binders, 189 mowers and 7 forks and hoes went to Melbourne, 15 lawn mowers and 7 forks and rakes to Dunedin, and a smaller number of lawn mowers, forks and hoes to Wellington and Sydney and Adelaide. Sydney took 161 rakes and Auckland 23 mowers. One hundred and twenty-one cases of shovels, 2108 cases of axes and hatchets, 107 cases of scales, 709 kegs of nails, 307 packages of machinery, 307 packages of stoves and ranges, 2021 packages of hardware and 137 packages of pumps went to the same places. Canadian manufacturers will not find much encouragement in those figures. Under the heading carriages and wagons the figures are 2 C., 6 W. and 6 C.—not a large number. Of carriage materials 296 rims, 223 poles and shafts, 4952 carriages (whatever that means), 56 hubs and spokes and 20 axles went to Melbourne and smaller quantities to the other ports. One thousand three hundred and eighty cases of sewing machines were sent. There were bundles of oars, 85 packages of shoe-pegs, 422 packages of blacking, 1385 packages of woodenware, distinguished as C. P. and W. B.; packages of tubs and pails, cases of handles and brooms, 2015 cases of chairs (probably such as the cheap articles once sent to us in parts), 129 packages of leather, 202 cases of organs, 5210 boxes of maizena, 250 packages of dried apples, 1541 cases of canned goods, 245 cases of paint and varnish, manufactured tobacco, kerosene oil, lubricating oil, laths, slate, 1,995 barrels of plaster and 8,612 barrels of sugar. They also sent a quantity, not large, of lumber, chiefly hardwood, and a great number of smallwares in small quantities—bolts, benzene, brushes, hammers, wringers, rollers, perambulators, saws and other tools, trunks, meat-cutters, baking powder, windmills and other "Yankee notions," rubber goods, etc. The greater number of the articles sent to Australia from the Eastern ports of the United States are just such as we import, because the people of the United States excel in their production. Scarcely anything in the list can be regarded as competing with British manufactures. From San Francisco were sent 691 boxes of fish, 1,481 cases of fish, 101 salmon, 17 cases of books, 20 barrels and 251 cases of beer, 25 cases of paint, 41 of candy, 25 bales of leather, 188 pieces of timber, 15 cases of puture frames, 76 panels, 1,419 doors, 109 pieces of machinery, 386 kegs of casings and small quantities of potash, broom corn, seed, coffee, etc.

Catarrah, Catarrahal Deafness and Hay Fever.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are cured in from one to three simple applications made at home. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free on receipt of stamp, by A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street West, Toronto, Canada.—Christian Standard. *

FATNESS OF THE EARTH.

Value of the U. S. Mineral Productions for 1886.

From Washington it is reported that the total value of the mineral products of the United States increased in round numbers from $428,000,000 in 1885 to $465,000,000 in 1886. The important factor in the gain of $37,000,000 was the increased production of pig iron; 4,044,525 long tons in 1885 to 5,683,325 long tons in 1886, and an appreciation of 75 cents in average value per ton. The total value of gold produced in 1886 was $35,000,000, an increase of 3,199,000 over 1885. The production of silver has decreased from $51,600,000 in 1885 to $51,000,000 in 1886.

The production of copper in 1886 amounted to 160,678,081 pounds, a decrease of 10,284,526 pounds from 1885. The total production of lead increased to 536,629 tons in 1886. In 1885 production was 129,412 tons. The production of white lead in 1886 is estimated at 60,000 short tons. The total value of oxides of lead was about $1,535,000. In 1886 the production of quicksilver in California was 29,981 flasks. This is a decrease of 2,092 flasks, but the total value shows an increase of $80,811 due to the rise in prices. The total production of coke in 1886 was 6,838,088 short tons. This is the largest production ever reached in the United States. The total production of petroleum was 28,110,115 barrels of 42 gallons each, of which the Pennsylvania and New York fields produced 25,799,000 barrels, an increase of 6,628,074 barrels over 1885.

A Fine Mill.

The grist and flouring mill now being erected in Okanagan, by Messrs. Goldie & McCulloch, of Galt, Ont., will be one of the best equipped mills for its size and capacity in the Dominion. It is being fitted throughout with the most modern and approved rolling process machinery. It will have a capacity of 150 barrels of 200 pounds each per diem. The total cost will be in the neighborhood of $100,000. The owners are wealthy English capitalists, who are confident of the success of their enterprise and the future of the Okanagan, Spallumcheen, and other valleys, whose wheat will be tributary to their mill. It is built on the Okanagan Lake, some thirty miles inland from the line of the C. P. R., and to which there is navigation for several months of the year. There are at present close upon a dozen millwrights from the Galt establishment fitting up the machinery. It is expected that this year's grain crop in the districts named will be gristed and ground at this mill, which will prove to be of great advantage to the settlers of that section of the Province. The route of the proposed Shuslwap and Okanagan Railway will run past this mill, which will give it shipping facilities both east into the mountains and west to the coast, where it will secure the Oriental trade—a practically illimitable market.

Reciprocal Rejoicings.

To many people it will be a matter of astonishment, says the Monetary Times, that on the Pacific Slope the Yankees and the Canucks help to celebrate with one another their respective holidays. On the Queen's birthday, and more especially has it been the case this year, Americans came in great numbers from Oregon to Victoria, B. C., to witness the sham fight between the naval and the land forces of Her Majesty and crowds of Canadians go over to the American coast to celebrate the 4th of July. This year a deputation waited upon Sir M. Culme Seymour, the Admiral of the Pacific fleet stationed at Esquimalt, and asked him to send a man-of-war to Tacoma to join in celebrating Independence Day. With great good nature he consented to do so, and accordingly we read, H. M. S. Caroline sailed on such a day for Tacoma, where it will remain until after the 4th of July celebration. Mayor MacLean, of Vancouver, and Mayor Fell, of Victoria, were on board, the invited guests of Capt. Sir Wm. Wiseman, Bart. Besides, in Victoria the 4th of July is a half-holiday and the whole of the citizens turn out to witness the Scottish sports under the management of St. Andrew's Society.

"C" Battery.

The Ottawa Free Press, of the 22nd inst., says: "Lieut.-Col. Holmes, royal Canadian artillery corps and commandant of that mythical battery "C". of Victoria, B. C., arrived in town yesterday evening. To-day he had a long interview with his chief, Sir Adolphe, in regard to his battery, for at the present moment it is not half as formidable as Falstaff's ragged regiment of four. The promise of naval pensioners from England does not meet, it is said, Col. Holmes' idea, for a mounted jack-tar would be a queer sight. If it is found hard to enlist men in Victoria to form the battery, why not draft a sufficient number from the "A" and "B" batteries and form the nucleus of the battery and then begin general recruiting in the other provinces to bring up the strength of all the batteries. There are plenty of men who would be glad to join in Montreal and Quebec. Any way, something should be done at once and not have Col. Holmes like 'Pooh-Bah' filling all the positions from Colonel to trumpeter."

Give Them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. *

Should be Changed.

This morning a number of our most prominent business men, who had been summoned, attended the Supreme Court, where it was supposed an important case would be tried to-day. After waiting there for some time they were informed that there would be no court to-day. They then left for their homes and business houses, considerably disgusted at being thus treated and called from business unnecessarily. Gentlemen of the bar must be aware that this practice is now becoming too common, and it is high time it was put a stop to. If cases are settled before coming before a jury notice thereof should be given in season, to prevent business men losing valuable time unnecessarily.

THE PORT AUGUSTA

Arrives Last Night—Leaves at Once for Vancouver.

The Hongkong steamer Port Augusta, the third boat of the new C. P. N. line, arrived off the outer harbor between 3 and 4 Thursday afternoon. Captain Urquhart boarded the steamer at once and piloted her to Vancouver. The Port Augusta is a three-masted steamer, painted white. The captain reported thick weather in the straits and westerly winds.

ARRIVES AT VANCOUVER.

VANCOUVER, July 29.—The steamship Port Augusta, Capt. Hogg, from China and Japan, arrived in port shortly before 12 o'clock last night. The vessel left Yokahama on the 13th inst. at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and experienced fine, but foggy, weather during the whole trip. Capt. Hogg was only able to take two observations during the voyage, owing to the fog. When land was sighted south of the Straits, a heavy fog came on, and the vessel was obliged to lie at anchor for two entire days within three miles of shore and in 35 fathoms of water. Yesterday morning the weather cleared and the Port Augusta proceeded towards Vancouver. Capt. Urquhart, the pilot, was taken aboard in the Straits and brought the vessel into Vancouver from Royal Roads, and that in the midst of darkness, smoke and fog. The actual running time of the Port Augusta between Yokahama and Vancouver was thirteen days, which, considering the thick weather, is a very fair trip. Capt. Hogg stated to our representative that the steamship Abyssinia, Capt. Marshall, sailed out of Yokahama for Hongkong as the Port Augusta entered Yokahama. The total number of packages of tea and general merchandise is 42,946 and 14 bags of mail. Most of the passengers leave for the east to-day by the Atlantic express, and a number of Chinamen for Victoria will be sent over on the Yosemite in bond to that city.

IN SIX HOURS

ON THE WING.

Movements of People We Know and have Read of.

Mr. N. Shakespeare, M.P., and wife are rusticating at Seattle.

Mr. F. Deardon, of New York, brother of Dr. Deardon, of this city, was a passenger from the Sound this afternoon.

Mr. W. Dufour, of Vancouver, arrived from a visit to the Sound to day. He is at the Clarence.

Mr. Thomas Guinlan, "mine host" of the Esmond Hotel, Portland, is at the Driard.

Mr. Kirkpatrick and daughter, of Salt Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Hicks Arnold, of New York, are at the Driard.

Mr. T. H. Beeton, of London, England, will return to the city to-night from Skeena.

Mr. Burke, M. P. P., of Manitoba, who is now in the east, says a general election in Manitoba is imminent.

Miss Kinsman arrived home to-day from her visit to England and the continent. She came by the N. P. R. R. and the Sound.

Mr. Batteray, the new baggagemaster for the C. P. N. Co., arrived from the mainland last night and assumed the duties of his office to day.

Hon. Justice Walkem, Mrs. Walkem and daughter will leave to-morrow morning for Kamloops. The best wishes of numerous friends and a wide circle of acquaintances accompany them to their mainland home.

The Rev. E. Stokes, of Cleveland, Ohio, is at the Clarence. He is traveling in the interest of Dr. Wad-el-Wad of Jerusalem, Palestine, an extensive traveler and a great linguist, being master of no less than 13 languages, who is on a lecturing tour on the coast. It is probable he will lecture in this city at an early date.

On his return from a holiday trip to the Lower St. Lawrence, Sir Adolph Caron and Sir Fred Middleton will proceed to British Columbia and inspect the site for his new fortifications at Vancouver and Victoria; that is, if the plans have by that time been received from the Royal Engineer office, England.

The Hon. Thomas White, Minister of the Interior, is accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Bella White. In Winnipeg they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Smith. They left there on Tuesday last for this coast. Before his departure from that city Mr. White transacted a great deal of public business. He was closeted throughout Saturday with his deputy, Mr. A. M. Burgess, and Commissioner Smith, both of whom had just returned from this city.

Mr. Charles Nordhoff, a well-known New York journalistic literati, is at the Driard. Mr. Nordhoff is the author of several very popular economic and descriptive works. He has for several years represented the New York Herald in Washington and has done much to direct the successful policy of that journal. Mr. Nordhoff came overland by the Canadian Pacific from Montreal. With the Canadian Switzerland he is in raptures. Our mountain scenery transcends in beauty and majestic grandeur any conception he had formed of it.

St. Clair River Tunnel.

It is now announced that the St. Clair River tunnel to be built by the Grand Trunk Railway Company connecting the American and Canadian shores at Port Huron and Sarnia will be pushed to completion as fast as possible. Preparations for work on the Canadian side are now about completed, and Mr. Murphy, the manager, expects to put into the drift next week the full force of twelve men on each watch. On the Port Huron side a boiler is being erected and other necessary preparations made, and as soon as these are completed an equal force of men will be set to work. Some gas is still met with in the drift at the Canadian side, and so far it has been found impossible to designate its different species without trouble.

AMERICAN NEWS.

AN OPIUM CASE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Judges Sawyer and Hoffman, of the U. S. Circuit Court, decided a point raised in the case of McLean against Collector Hager this morning. In November, 1885, McLean purchased in Honolulu 1000 tins of the drug which had been seized by the Hawaiian custom house officers and sold at auction. He shipped it to Panama by way of San Francisco. After its arrival here, and when the attempt was made to place it on the Panama steamer, it was seized by the collector. The opium was held for a year, and then sold at auction by the U. S. Marshal. McLean sued the collector to recover the opium, and the collector entered a demurrer, claiming that he acted according to law. The decision rendered this morning was merely on the demurrer. It held that the collector had no power to compel payment of duty on foreign goods in transit to foreign localities, nor had he any right to seize the opium.

PULPIT TO STAGE.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Since "Senator" Bob Hart gave up the wine cup and minstrelsy, nine years ago, James M. Southerland, which is his true name, has labored in his chosen evangelical field. In days gone by he has rung out the truths of religion on the street corners, and in other public places, but now he has taken to burnt cork again. He said yesterday, "I have made no definite arrangements to return to the stage, but probably shall soon. I shall keep up my missionary work, as much as my professional duties will allow; but it is an almost thankless task, and a man owes something to his family. I have given the service of the best years of my life to the cause of my Master, but it has been at a great personal sacrifice. I have obligations which have to be met, and I see no way of doing so except by resuming my old profession." Brother Southerland is a Baptist clergyman. Last April he sailed for Bermuda, as a missionary, leaving his wife and family here.

AGED 109 YEARS.

BROOKLYN, July 28.—Harris Hirsch, commonly known as Rabbi Hirsch, died here yesterday at the age of 109. His death-bed was surrounded by his wife, Rachel, aged 99, his son and a score of grand and great grand children. Rabbi Hirsch was born in a Russian village named Piatorkovi in Poland, near Warsaw, 1778 and was one of twenty-one children, of whom sixteen were boys. He married early and when Napoleon marched to Moscow in 1812 Hirsch was the father of a six-year-old boy. Hirsch saw the Little Corporal and often, even up to the time of his death, described him accurately. He escaped the conscription levied by Napoleon, which caught sight of his brothers, by hiding with his family in the woods for a year. He came to America in 1850, being then 72 years old, but hale and hearty. His great age is fully attested by papers which his son some years ago obtained from authorities in Hirsch's native village.

FATAL MISTAKE.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 27.—Daniel Pullion and Charles Cooley, two surface graders on the Cheyenne & Northern railroad, were shot by Wallace Link and S. Baker, two ranchmen, at 8:20 this morning, near Chugwater Station, seventy-five miles north of this city. Pullion will die and Cooley will lose his right leg, with a possibility of death also. Link and Baker were members of a posse hunting for prisoners who escaped from the Laramie city jail on the 19th. Six prisoners, including one murderer and two horse thieves, gagged the jailer and escaped to the hills. Two were captured on Saturday and two yesterday afternoon. The two out were the murderer, Ed. Linn, and a horse thief, Lee Jones. Linn and Jones were headed off in the vicinity of Chugwater Sunday night. When the deputies rode in sight of Pullion and Cooley this morning, they thought they were the escaped prisoners. They shot at them and ordered them to halt, simultaneously. The graders were terrified and started to run, when they were shot down. When Link and Baker discovered their mistake they were horrified. They rode their horses rapidly northward to escape a mob of 100 graders and tracklayers.

STANLEY STORIES DISCREDITED.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Lieut. Emory H. Taunt, of the United States navy, who has just returned to Washington, after two years spent in exploring the Congo River in Africa, was interviewed in reference to published reports of the death of Henry M. Stanley, the African explorer. Lieut. Taunt does not believe that Stanley met his death in the manner alleged, and thinks that the sensational reports which have been published have no foundation in fact.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember! No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

THE AGONY ONLY BEGINNING.

On the 24th of August last the ratepayers of the city voted in favor of the Water Works By-Law by 367 for to 214 against. The scheme proposed to be adopted and carried out for a better supply of water was a system of high and low level reservoirs adapted to the requirements of the city by Mr. HENDRY, Water Works Engineer, from like works in the old world. It was contended by Coun. HIGGINS at both the last meetings of the Council that the principle of two reservoirs was not before the people at the time of casting their votes for the by-law, and that he did not so understand it. Without quoting from a number of editorial articles, which appeared from time to time in the Colonist, owned and edited by himself at that date, one extract from the issue of August 17th, seven days before the voting took place, will show to the public whether Coun. HIGGINS has stated correctly how he understood the proposition a year ago. It is possible that Coun. HIGGINS may have forgotten the explanation given in an editorial on the date above mentioned, which is as follows:

"On this day week there will be submitted to the ratepayers a by-law to enable the corporation to raise the sum of $75,000 for water-works purposes. What these purposes are has already been clearly stated. It is proposed that somewhere upon the higher levels a reservoir shall be constructed capable of containing 1,500,000 gallons of water, and higher still, a tank of about 60,000 gallons capacity, to act as a further reserve in case of emergency, and to furnish a pressure that will be not only sufficient for all domestic purposes, but heavy enough to cause steam power to be entirely dispensed with or merely employed as an auxiliary in case of fire. The cost has been carefully calculated by a practical engineer, and the figures are carefully checked by two competent engineers, resident in this city, and the people can rest assured that the sum mentioned will not only be sufficient, &c."

Coun. HIGGINS also published in the Colonist, of August 24th, the morning of the voting, a letter signed B. W. PEARSE, Esq., now one of the members of the Municipal Council, in which that gentleman explains fully the proposed scheme, and mentions it as "Mr. HENDRY's scheme," setting forth that "Mr. PICKERING also endorses it." Again, in the issue of THE TIMES of the evening before the vote was to be cast is to be found a communication from Coun. GRANT, giving a description of the scheme proposed to be adopted in increasing the city's water supply, as well as the estimated cost of the work under various heads. Since that time we have yet to find a single man, including many of those who voted against the by-law, that did not understand, in casting his vote, that it was either for the high or low reservoirs or against them, excepting of course some of the present Council. Enough has been said to establish the fact that the money asked for by the Council for the improvement of the water supply of this city was intended by the Council, and so understood by the ratepayers, to be expended on the double reservoir scheme.

At another time we will consider the different propositions advanced by opponents of what might well be termed HENDRY's scheme, and compare the merits of that scheme with any other propounded. In the mean time five Councillors have set the instructions of their masters, the ratepayers, at defiance—these instructions having been given by 367 as against 211. This is truly drifting backward and treating the majority with contempt.

PARNELL AND CRIME.

The dinner given at the National Club, London, on the evening of the 20th instant, to Mr. PARNELL and his colleagues by the advanced wing of the Liberal party, was, in every respect, a great success. A cable dispatch states that Mr. PARNELL's speech, like all his efforts, was extremely dexterous and chiefly remarkable for the very emphatic and impressive repudiation of all methods of violence in the Irish movement. He dwelt upon the fact that crime in Ireland is decreasing and asserted his belief that whatever wrong may be inflicted upon the Irish people they would be slow to retaliate. His declaration that his countrymen would be fools were they to do anything to prejudice the splendid position they had attained by the aid of Mr. GLADSTONE and the Liberal party, must be taken as a direct injunction to some of the more restless Nationalists, who think the union too pacific. A more conclusive demonstration that the policy of the Irish party is not governed by PATRICK FORD is noticeable in the extremely bitter article in the Times. All reference to Mr. PARNELL's repudiation of crime is carefully suppressed.

Hon. Alex. Mackenzie has wired urging the Liberals of South Renfrew to support Duncan McIntyre in the coming election.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

Complaints often reach us of the neglected state of the Cadboro road outside of the corporation limits. If the roads leading to and from this city are to retain the reputation that has been accorded them as being the best and most enjoyable drives on the coast, it behooves the government to see that they are kept in proper condition, not only to induce visitors to drive over them but in common justice to the farmers who have to use them in reaching the city. The Cadboro road has been described as disgraceful at the present time. The government cannot surely urge as an excuse that they have not the necessary funds. If they are short of the needful, then the late million dollar loan must have vanished very quickly. However, it is generally understood that the government candidates during last election had but little support along the line of the road mentioned, which may have something to do with its unsatisfactory condition.

THE OTTAWA TEAM.

It is reported that one or two of our best marksmen, who were elected at the recent Provincial matches to go to the Ottawa rifle meeting, are somewhat indifferent about going. The gentlemen referred to are employed in public offices, and do not care to seek the necessary leave of absence.

It is but natural that young men, ambitious to make for themselves good records in their departments and to rise in their respective positions, should demur to anything which might interfere with their positions, and it is the duty of the heads of the departments to see that it does not. Our boys met the volunteers of the other Provinces on the ranges at Ottawa last year and acquitted themselves with credit. That was the first time our Province had been represented at the annual Ottawa meeting. The conditions are now almost as favorable for this Province sending a team to Ottawa every year as for the most of the other Provinces, and if we do not do it it will be a good excuse for the militia department to ignore us and refuse to establish the battery so long promised. The team must go to Ottawa, or our militia be relegated forever to oblivion. Our boys have surely sufficient of the military ardor of their fathers, and of their friends in the East, to scout such an idea as this. A Winnipeg boy has recently been the recipient of marked favors at the hands of royalty as a result of his skill at the butts. How long will it be before we shall see one of our Victoria lads similarly honored?

SELLING AT COST.

The Montreal Star reads merchants the following homily on "selling off at cost:" In this age, says the Star, of keen competition retailers have to be content with making small profits, or at all events with making their customers believe in the small percentage of the margin left to them on the goods they sell. Beyond this there is the necessity of making people believe that the goods are sold at less prices than their neighbors ask. Bargains, too, must be offered to tempt the ignorant customers to buy what they could get cheaper in an ordinary way. Accordingly the public is tempted with the attraction of being able to buy at "cost price." The frequent sequel is that many of the storekeepers who sell at "cost price" are unable to pay for what they get and become insolvent. This arises, in many cases, from ignorance as to what "cost price" really means. In the first place a wholesale quantity of goods often does not aggregate the same when in retail. A barrel of sugar, for instance, weighing say two hundred pounds, will not give two hundred separate pound lots, because each really needs more than an exact pound to pull down the balance. And the same way with dry goods, unless the measure stretches the fabric along the yard stick as he measures. But beyond these drawbacks, for which allowance is sometimes made in the wholesale quantity, there are other items to be added to "cost price." To use the barrel of sugar again as an illustration, if the retailer buys from the refiner—or the boycotters forming the combine—say at 7c., is he not getting "cost price," if he also sells at 7c., putting aside any loss there may be in retailing the quantity? By no means; and this is where a half-informed retailer comes to grief. He has certian expenses—rent, taxes, wages, and other items, such as paper and string, which, though individually trifling, make a considerable total in the year. Out of every dollar he receives for his sales a certain proportion goes to pay these fixed expenses, and if he only gets a dollar for goods which cost him a dollar, he is not only not selling at cost price, but is actually selling below cost price and making his customer a present either out of his own capital or his creditors' pockets. Cost price does not mean the price paid by the retailer to the wholesaler, but it means this figure increased by its full share of expenses, and it is only when selling at that price that a storekeeper gets "cost price" for his goods. Selling even at this true cost price is hardly a remunerative business, as it simply means that a clear balance sheet is presented at the end of the year and that the storekeeper has had his work for his reward. But selling at what is often considered as cost price is suicidal and disheartening. None has the right to give other people's money away, nor has he the moral right to undersell other competitors by his mistaken charity.

SOUTH RENFREW.

The Ottawa Evening Journal (Conservative) considers the unanimous nomination in South Renfrew by the Liberals of Mr. DUNCAN MCINTYRE as an evidence of a new departure by the Opposition. It is of the opinion that the Liberals must have resolved not merely to abandon their unwise and bootless hostility to the Pacific Railway as a national work, but to form if possible a close party alliance with its present owners. Mr. McINTYRE is still a large holder of stock in the company, and is not likely, if elected, to countenance a political and parliamentary crusade against his own property. Therefore, whether Mr. McINTYRE finds a seat in Parliament now, or hereafter, the fact of his nomination by the Liberals (we presume it has not been without the approval of Mr. LAURIER and his co-leaders) is a good omen. Let us rejoice that the wearisome speeches and recriminations over the policy of an all Canadian line to the Pacific coast, will no longer obstruct business and waste the time of Parliament. We all know that Mr. McINTYRE and his friends found "millions in it," not they also ran the risk of losing, but millions perhaps, but all they possessed. Fortune and the Canadian Government favored them; they got rid of large blocks of their stock at a handsome advance; and they fed the English and continental markets with their bonds—and the railway is in operation, and can't be removed. If the Liberals are tired of complaining, and want to elect Pacific Railway contractors to Parliament, let them—if they can!

SIR OLIVER.

It is rumored in political circles in Toronto and Ottawa that the object of the Hon. OLIVER MOWATT's visit to England is in connection with a title which it is reported has been offered to him by the Queen. The quid nunc cannot understand why the Ontario Premier should cross the Atlantic at this particular time, and their curiosity being aroused one more gifted in invention than the rest has concocted the knighthood story, which, strange to say, has obtained considerable credence already.

If the title of "Sir" were synonymous with "merit," and was conferred only for eminent services to the State or to society, we could understand why it should be offered to the distinguished Ontario premier, who has been at the head of a government for a longer period of time than any other leader in Canada, and who has done more in shaping the laws of his native State and in giving them a democratic tendency than any other living statesman. But a title is no indication of the character or standing of the individual whose name it ornaments, and not infrequently the man of many "titles" and "honors" will be found to be the greatest scoundrel. The granting of titles means the formation of an aristocracy, which is opposed to the spirit of the age and the genius of the Canadian people. The attempt made some years ago to give this exotic plant a start in Canada was a signal failure, due very largely to the refusal of the Liberal leaders to give the thing respectability. Hon. OLIVER MOWATT could worthily wear the title and maintain the honor and dignity of a "belted knight," but we do not believe his supporters in Ontario would think any more of him for having taken such a long step tory-wards. Hon. ALEX. MACKENZIE and Hon. ED. BLAKE did not lose anything by refusing knighthood; Hon. OLIVER MOWATT would not gain anything by being dubbed "Sir" OLIVER, and he might lose the respect of many of his warmest admirers.

A king can make a belted knight
A marquis, duke and a' that;
An honest man's aboon his might,
Gude faith he canna fa' that.

OLIVER MOWATT is an "honest man," and if he would remain so he had better keep out of the company of marquises, dukes and a' that.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The appointment of Rev. Dr. Dewart, the editor of the Christian Guardian, to the Senate of Toronto University, in place of the late Sir Matthew Cameron, will be hailed with satisfaction throughout the Province. The honor is well merited.

It is said the sudden release from a German prison of the Danish Captain Saraaw, who was sentenced last year to twelve year's imprisonment for high treason, is his reward for information furnished about the French spy system.

Apparently the Grand Trunk is bound to meet the C. P. R. all along the line, says the Ottawa Evening Journal. Its fight with the transcontinental road for a passage to and from the Western States via Sault Ste Marie is followed by an invasion of the enemy's territory in the far Northwest. The news is gratifying. The more complete the competition between the two great roads, the better for the rest of us.

There can hardly be much doubt—indeed, there is no question in the minds of many business men—observes the Montreal Journal of Commerce, that the commerce of Canada is hurrying as it were by leaps and bounds to a friend of inflation much resembling that to which we were several years since hurrying, and which was only stopped by the introduction of the National Policy and the circumstances attendant upon the changed conditions of things. We none of us, we are sure, are desirous of getting back to those days of misfortune and depression against which the government of the day professed inability to do anything. The amount of goods that are being handled, we do not say needlessly, but we may ask if it is being done with due care—is already beginning to raise the question in some minds if the time is not approaching when it will be incumbent on them to stand from under.

COLORS AND EMOTIONS.

THE SENSE OF COLOR AS OLD AS THE GNAWING OF HUNGER.

Red Associated With Violent Mental Impressions—Blue the Color Mysterious and Holy—"Red Words" of Swinburne. Yellow and Green.

The theories of Gladstone and Magnus that the men of the Homeric era were color blind, because of the absence from the Homeric poems of certain words expressive of certain colors, have been disproved by more thorough modern research. The primitive man's sense of color, or the sensitiveness of his retina to ether vibrations, may not have been as fine as that of the Roman mosaic worker who could select his material of 20,000 different tints, nor as that of the Gobelins weaver, who can recognize 28,000 different shades of wool. But the evidence goes to show that the sense of color is old as the gnawing of hunger or the pangs of fear—old as the experience that taught living creatures to discern food and to flee from danger. There is, however, reason to suppose, from certain developmental phenomena observed in the eyes of children and newly born animals, that the present condition of the color sense has been gradually reached—not so much in any particular species as in all species possessing it—just as vision itself must have been gradually acquired. Also showy colors must have been perceived before they could be discerned; and even now we know, through the spectroscope, that the human eye is not yet developed to the fullest possible perceptions of color.

Now the first colors recognized by the first eyes must have presumably been just those we call primary—yellow, red, green, blue. Yellow, the color of gold, is also the color of our sun; the brightest daylight has a more or less faint tinge even at noon, according to the state of the atmosphere, and this tint deepens at sunrise and sunset. Red is the color of blood—a color allied necessarily from time immemorial with violent mental impressions, whether of war, of love, or the chase, or religious sacrifice. Green itself is the color of the world. Blue—the blue of the [illegible] for man the color most mysterious and holy—always associated with those high phenomena of heaven which first inspired wonder and fear of the unknown. These colors were probably first known to intelligent life; and their impressions are to-day the strongest. So violent, indeed, have they become to our refined sense, that in apparel or decoration three of them at least, are condemned when offered purely. Even the armies of the world are abandoning red uniforms; no refined people wear flaming crimsons or shrieks of yellows; nobody would paint a house or decorate a wall with a solid sheet of strong primary color. Blue is still the least violent, the most agreeable to the artistic sense; and in subdued form it ennobl[illegible] a place, in costume and in art, refused to less spiritual colors.

THE STRONGER EMOTIONS.

It must consequently be expected there should exist some correlation between the primary colors and the stronger emotional states of man. And such, indeed, proves to be the case. Emotionally the colors come in the order of red, yellow, green and blue. Red still appeals to the idea of passion—for which very reason its artistic use is being more and more restrained. Very curious are the researches made by Grant Allen showing this fact of the sensual use of red. In Swinburne's "Poems and Ballads" (the same suppressed work republished in this country under its first title, "Laus Veneris"), the red epithets appear 159 times, while gold, green and blue words occur respectively 143, 65 and 23 times. In Tennyson's beautiful poem, "The Princess," the red words occur only 36 times, the gold 28, the green 6, the blue once. With all his exquisite sense of color, Tennyson is sparing of adjectives—there is no false skin to his work; it is solid muscle and bone.

Next to red, the most emotional color is yellow—the color of life, and of what men seem to prize next to life, gold. We fancy we can live without green sometimes; it comes third; but it is the hue associated with all the labors of man on the earth since he began to labor. It is the color of industry. Blue has always been, since man commenced to think, and always will be, until he shall have ceased to think, associated with his spiritual sense, his idea of many gods or of One, his hopes of a second life, his faith, his good purposes, his perception of duty. Still, all who pray turn up their faces toward the eternal azure. And with the modern expansion of the idea of God, as with the modern expansion of the idea of the universe, the violet gulf of space ever seems more mystical, its pure color more and more divine, and appeals to us as the color of the Unknowable, the color of the Holy of Holies.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Magnates in Their Offices.

President Norvin Green, of the Western Union company, occupies a handsomely furnished suite of rooms for his office, and sits there in modest state, with a clerk or two near by. President Chauncey M. Depew has even a larger room, all to himself, in the Grand Central depot, but it is not either expensively or fully furnished. He sits at a great table desk, and at his left hand is a sort of short column or pedestal, dotted with electric call buttons bearing the names of the officers of the Central railroad. His clerks are in other rooms, and he is left alone at his work. You could not swing a kitten in S. V. White's office, it is so small. There is just room in it for the banker's roll top desk and chair. Erastus Wiman has a little slanting topped, old fashioned desk jammed against the wall between two windows in a space railed off at the head of a big room that hums with the noise of a host of clerks, some of whom have their desks behind the rail by his. Hugh McLaughlin, of Brooklyn, the most powerful political leader in this country, has an old fashioned desk in an auction room in a side street in Brooklyn, and sits at it all day receiving callers, six days in the week.—New York Sun.

Formula for Hog Cholera.

A formula for a mixture that is reported to be exceedingly efficacious in Tennessee for maladies coming under the convenient head of "cholera" is as follows: Extract of logwood, ¼ ounces; bluestone, 4 drachms; mix these with 6 pints of boiling water. To this add 1 1-2 pints of turpentine, the same quantity of kerosene, also of raw linseed oil. This makes 10 1-2 pints, to which is added about 21 pints of pokeroot tea, and the whole will make one dose for one pint each for thirty-two hogs. Bluestone in this recipe is also called blue vitriol. It is sulphate of copper and is not the same as copperas. The latter is sulphate of iron and called also green vitriol. A good authority says of this mixture: "As a preventive of disease, by the destruction of disease germs and intestinal worms, the above prescription is well suited to inspire confidence in its efficacy."

Odor of Camel's Hair.

Professor Jaeger claims that the odor of camel's hair, which is so distinguishable, has a most beneficial effect. He asserts that it produces sleep in persons suffering from insomnia, and he advises them to sleep on pillows covered with camel's hair and stuffed with hair.—Boston Herald.

Since 1873 there has been an increase of almost 70 per cent. in the exportation of American flour.

THE HAUNTED CHAMBER.

Mary Anderson's Experience with One of Bulwer Lytton's Ghosts.

I met a friend of Mary Anderson's at a little luncheon up town the other day, and he was telling me a curious story told her lately by the fair actress. The man said that Miss Anderson told him the story when she was last here, and assured him of its absolute truth with utmost earnestness. It is a regular old fashioned and bona fide ghost story, and has the interest of having occurred at a famous house in England, Knebworth castle, the home of Bulwer Lytton and his son, the earl of Knebworth—Owen Meredith. The countess of Knebworth took a great fancy to the beautiful and entirely proper young Kentuckian, and had her down to visit her in the country at her grand and historic residence. The night before the visit came to a conclusion there was some talk in the countess' boudoir, over 5 o'clock tea, of the ghostly legends connected with the historic houses of England.

The earl of Knebworth inherits a good deal of his father's taste for the supernatural and is very learned in spookology. After relating thrilling and hair lifting tales of many of the old places he had visited he confessed to Miss Anderson that in Knebworth also there was a haunted chamber that had never been occupied at night for half a hundred years. Miss Anderson was too wise to let her one and only chance for meeting a real and aristocratic family "barnt" escape her, and begged to be allowed to sleep for her last night in that long unused room. The earl and countess tried to persuade her out of it, but she persisted, and finally, on the condition that her maid should sleep upon a lounge in the room with her, they yielded. The serving woman was not told the reason for the change of apartments other than Miss Anderson had taken a fancy to sleep there.

Very late in the night, but at what hour she could not definitely say, Miss Anderson was awakened suddenly by a feeling of oppression and, struggling to sit up, felt upon her chest what seemed to be the weight of a thousand pounds, so helpless was she to move or cry out. Finally she managed to gasp out the name of her maid and from the lounge where she slept heard a smothered and gurgling cry. A few moments later the maid rushed to her bedside in a paroxysm of fear, explaining that Miss Anderson's cry had awakened her, but when she endeavored to answer a huge weight was laid upon her that made it impossible to articulate or move. The two women sat up in their dressing gowns shivering with fear until daylight aroused the household, and then no trace of any disturbance could be found in the room. Her hosts confessed that the tradition of the experience of those who had last slept in the room had been exactly similar, and Miss Anderson, despite their hospitality and kindness, was glad to get away from a place where she had suffered such a nervous shock.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Personal Anecdotes at Dinner.

Personal anecdotes are constantly told and expected at the dinner party, and nothing more surely casts a damper over a festive occasion than the introduction of a choice anecdote touching some person whom some guest feels the inclination or duty to defend. It is necessary also to know, before relating the deliciously funny tale of the millionaire who married his cook, that the father of none of the company has made a similar mesalliance, and one hardly gains approbation in citing the case of the woman who eloped with her footman when the sister of his right hand neighbor has been guilty of a mistake of the same kind.

It is needful also to acquire a well selected stock of anecdotes, bon mots, and clever reflections, to add to it constantly, to learn to introduce them deftly and without apparent effort to tell them well, and to adapt them to the particular company for whose benefit they are uttered. In fact, in order to be a successful diner out, one must be possessed of tact, patience, polish; he must be flexible, keen and adaptable; he must know all gastronomic lore, be able to discover the point of a dinner upon which the host prides himself, and know how to show his knowledge cleverly and agreeably.—Pioneer Press.

Gathering Literary Material.

Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen is as strong physically as he is mentally. He is a constant marvel at the sea side resorts, where he spends his summers, on account of his long distance swimming. He picks up a great deal of material for literary work during the season, and resorts unblushingly to flirtation to get it. At the close of a vacation on the Isles of Shoals he bade good bye to a young lady, with whom he had carried on a flirtation, with the words: "I am very glad I met you; you have been worth at least $500 to me."—New York Sun.

The Paris Academy of Medicine is going to discuss, some time hence, the question of mental overwork; and the results of these discussions, if carefully prepared and well backed by good documents, will certainly prove most interesting. The evil effects of overwork must certainly be enormous in France, not only from the mental point of view; but also as concerns the influence on physical development; all the more so that gymnastics and sports are not enough sought for and cultivated to counteract the bad effects of mental strain.—Science.

New Variety of Asparagus.

A new and extraordinarily fine variety of asparagus has just been discovered on the steppes of Akhal-Tekin, recently annexed by Russia. Though growing perfectly wild, it attains a size unknown in civilized countries. The stalks are said to be nearly as thick as a man's arm, and they grow to a height of five or six feet. This asparagus is tender and delicious in flavor. One stalk will supply ten Russian soldiers with all they can eat.—New York Tribune.

Great Saving in Butter.

An Albany paper tells of a well to do but very careful gentleman who recently told a friend in good faith that he had discovered how to save on his butter bills. "Just spread your bread with butter," said he, "then scrape it off as closely as you can, and hold the buttered side down when you eat it. Your tongue strikes the butter at once, and you get just as much flavor as if you had three times as much butter and ate it the other way."—New York Sun.

Chaperoning London Milk Boys.

I wonder if my readers have noticed how much lately the customs of taking refreshment are changing and how comparatively seldom people take a glass of wine, as they used to do? In London charming little milk bars are sprinkling up with strawberry like rapidity, and they are crowded with the better class of young men.—London Cor. Leeds Mercury.

Doing it Gracefully.

The empress of Austria has a passion for doing graceful things gracefully. Traveling by steamer to Orsova a week ago, one of the gentlemen was unlucky enough at dinner to upset a glass of red wine upon her majesty's dress. The gentleman was in what it is, I believe, correct to describe as a "blue funk" but shortly afterward the empress, who had not been a bit cross, consoled the awkward man by presenting him with a breastpin in brilliants.—London Letter.

Miss Elizabeth Garrett, sister of the president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, is worth about $10,000,000, and is a very bright and [illegible] woman.

Weekly Market Report.

Last week we gave the wholesale prices current of leading articles in produce, groceries, hardware and liquors. On the prices then quoted we find there is no change to note this week.

Business generally is about the same as it was then. The volume of freight reaching the city is larger than ever whilst outgoing shipments are correspondingly large. At this season of the year a large quantity of fruit is being handled by local dealers. Few have any conception of the quantity which is daily shipped to and from Victoria. Local as well as foreign fruit is in demand at paying prices. The principal points for distribution of much of the fruit sent here are on the mainland east as far as Winnipeg, which city as well as Calgary, also receive direct consignments from San Francisco.

Harvesting operations in one or two instances have begun adjacent to the city. The crop it is feared will be under an average one. Haying is over and the crop placed under shelter.

The refreshing rain of last Saturday night done much good for the roots and vegetables as well as for pasture. The weather continues to be mild and admirable in every way for harvesting purposes.

The money market is unchanged. It is expected that the opening in Vancouver next week of the branches of the Bank of Montreal and Bank of British North America will have the effect of stimulating trade in that city to a considerable extent. That city will then be well supplied with monetary institutions, having no less than three banks.

—A large number of workmen are busy tearing down the old Government House at Westminster. Already the building that once served as the office of the private secretary to the Governor has disappeared. A new residence for the Warden will be built where the old Government buildings now stand.

—A correspondent says: "Macdonald and Tupper are enveloped in dense clouds of smoke." This has no reference to the two Conservative leaders; it means two mountain towns. The former have been enveloped in dense clouds of scandal a score of times, and neither seem to be any the worse for it.

—The citizens of Donald, following the plan in vogue in the east, enjoyed a civic holiday last week. They picnicked at Keefe & Clarke's siding on the Columbia river. The day was pleasantly spent, all enjoying themselves thoroughly. On their return to the mountain capital the dining hall of the C. P. R. Co. was arranged for a dance and the time was passed merrily in tripping it in the light fantastic.

Liquor Regulations.

An order-in-council has passed granting authority to the Minister of Inland Revenue to issue special permits for the removal of duty-paid spirits in packages of five and ten gallons into British Columbia, provided the regulations assented to by the Lieut.-Governor of the Northwest regarding the transmission through the Territories are fully complied with.

Clark, the Forger.

The extradition papers arrived from Ottawa last evening, and Mr. Jerome Deasy will take Clark to San Francisco on the Elder to-morrow. Frankie Whitcombe departed for Chicago some time ago and left one thousand dollars to defray the expenses of defending Clark in the California courts. The prisoner will be taken to Truckee, Cal., to stand his trial.

Provincial Appointments.

The Provincial Government has made the following appointments: Rev. Geo. W. Taylor, of Cedar Hill, to be Honorary Provincial Entomologist.

S. M. Robins, Esq., J. P., has been appointed, under the 22nd Sec. of the "Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1887," to be a member of the Board of Examinations, Nanaimo, vice M. Bate, Esq., J. P., resigned.

Stealing Across the Borders.

It is estimated says the Whatcom Reporter, that over 200 Chinamen have passed through Whatcom county en route for Seattle and down Sound towns during the past thirty days. It is safe to say that each Chinaman brought from across the line ten pounds of opium. They go through unmolested. Never before has smuggling been carried on so bold and uninterruptedly as at the present time.

Handsome Presents.

Amongst the numerous presents to Mr. John Piercy on his marriage, was a walnut parlor suite from the members of Victoria-Columbia Lodge and Columbia R. A. Chapter, and a very handsomely framed oil painting of H. M. S. Triumph, on which was the following inscription: "Presented to W. M. Bro. J. Piercy by his Masonic brethren, on H. M. S. Triumph, on the occasion of his marriage, July 28, 1887."

Tony Cigars.

Yes, We've Immoral.

The Toronto Mail, speaking of the Mayor's rebuke of the city clergymen, says: "If Victoria is a highly moral city it is an exceptionally good municipality. It is very probable, however, that it has its bad points. Anyway it publishes Sunday papers." We surrender unconditionally. At first we were disposed to agree with the Mayor, but being reminded that there is a Sunday Colonist we know the clergymen are right. The natural depravity of a community that will suffer a Sunday Colonist to exist is terrible to contemplate.

Gladstone Cigars.

Installation.

The following members of Court Northern Light, No. 5935, were installed last evening: Bro Phillips, C R; B Williams, S C R; H Smith, Treasurer; H L Salmon, Secretary; C D Phillips, S W; F Smith, J W; J Barron, P C R. S B; W H Shaw, J R. The installation was conducted by Past District C R Stevens, of the Canadian Sub High Court, who gave a very instructive address, which was well calculated to inform the officers elect of the respective duties they owed the order. He also spoke very highly of the retiring C. R., Bro. J. H. Hughes, as did also Bro. J. Salmon, P. D. C. R.

Another Marriage in St. John's Church Last Night.

Last night, in St. John's Church, in the presence of one of the largest assemblages which ever congregated in that sacred edifice, Mr. John Piercy, of the firm of T. B. Pearson & Co., manufacturers, Langley street, was united in marriage to Henrietta R., daughter of Mr. G. Mesher, contractor of this city, by the Rev. Mr. Jeans. The interest taken in the welfare of the contracting parties by a wide circle of acquaintances accounts for the large turnout of spectators to witness the tying of the nuptial knot. The bride was given away by her father. She presented a charming appearance, attired in lovely slate-colored silk garments, with bridal veil, flowers and ornaments to match. The bridesmaid, Miss Whittaker, also looked very handsome. She was dressed in cream satin. Mr. G. Russell acted as the groom's assistant. The impressive and interesting ceremony concluded, the bridal party retired to the vestry, where the register was signed by Mr. and Mrs. Piercy, their signatures being witnessed by Past Grand Master's Brown and Dalby, and G. M., A. R. Milne. On leaving the church Mendelssohn's wedding march was played on the organ. The young couple entered a carriage and were driven to the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. G. M. Mesher, on the "Work estate," where a sumptuous wedding supper was partaken of. At an early hour Mr. and Mrs. Piercy, amidst a shower of rice and the traditionary old slipper, left for their own home, which had been handsomely furnished by the groom unknown to the bride.

The wedding presents were both numerous and costly, amongst the number being an elegant bedroom suite presented by the brethren of Victoria-Columbia Lodge A. F. & A. M., an elaborate silver egg stand by the G. M., a fine cooking stove by Mr. Joseph Spratt, a massive and elaborately framed picture of H. M. S. Triumph presented by the Masonic brethren on board that vessel, with a suitable inscription thereon; a silver cruet, knives and forks, silver pickle stand, china flower basket, salad bowl and dessert plates, vases, whatknot, claret jugs and glasses, and a variety of other articles. The best wishes and congratulations of THE TIMES are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Piercy in their new relations of life.

TWO MEN DROWNED

At Brotchie's Ledge To-day—Particulars of the Accident.

A sad drowning accident occurred at Brotchie's ledge, which is about a mile outside the light house at the entrance to the harbor, by which two men lost their lives. The facts of the sad affair are as follows: A few days since Capt. Raddlin of the Yosemite reported to Capt. Lewis, Marine and Fisheries Inspector, that his vessel had struck the buoy at the spot already named. The day following Capt. Lewis went out and examined the buoy but found it in its place and evidently all right. Other officers subsequently reported to Capt. Lewis that it was disappearing. On Monday the captain made another inspection of the buoy and found that it had sunk considerably. It was then decided that a new buoy should be taken to the spot to replace the defective one. This morning the Dominion steamer Douglas having a buoy in tow left her moorings in the harbor and proceeded to a point near Brotchie's reef. A boat was then lowered in which were five men with chains wherewith to take back the damaged buoy and anchor the new one. The work of fastening the chain to the buoy and the boat had gone on all right, and the raising of the buoy proceeded with. The buoy on being raised to the surface of the water showed that a hole sufficiently large to admit of a man's head had been made in it by the Yosemite. The air escaped through this hole and water speedily took it place. As a result it went to the bottom in a second or two taking with it the boat and its crew. Three of the five escaped with their lives, but two of the number, by some unaccountable means were drowned. It is reported that they were seen to rise and strike out in a swim for the ship, but soon disappeared. The supposition is that they became entangled in the kelp, which abounds in that locality in great quantities and succumbed and found a watery grave. One of the victims was named Thomas Stratton, was well known in this city, he having attended bar in the Garrick's Head, Bastion street, for Mr. Spencer, last winter and this spring. He was a native of England, about 27 years of age and unmarried. He was well known in Nanaimo, where he followed the same avocation for close upon two years. He spent last evening in the city and told Mr. Spencer of the job he had on hand for to-day. The other was named — Booth. Until the 1st of May last he was on board the Cormorant. Since then he has been on the Douglas. He was about 32 years of age. Both were popular with their acquaintances. Every effort was made by Capt. Devereux and officers of the Douglas to secure the bodies, but failed. The Douglas then steamed into the harbor and reported the sad affair to Capt. Lewis. The services of a couple of additional men were secured and with those on board the Douglas left again for the scene of the accident. Capt. Lewis telephoned the commanding officer of the flag ship to send round a crew with grappling irons, so that another effort might be made to secure the bodies. This work, as well as that of anchoring a new and removing the damaged buoy will be prosecuted this afternoon.

Up to the hour of going to press there were no news of the recovery of the bodies. The Douglas was anchored near the shoal with the flags at half-mast. The searching party were at work with the grappling irons and it is expected they will be successful during the afternoon in bringing the remains of the unfortunate men to the surface. One of the men saved says that the two men at the bottom never came up after being dragged underneath the surface. The boat came up in a few seconds and to it some of them clung till rescued.

Refusing to do Duty.

Cases against sailors for refusing duty at sea are becoming very common on this part of the coast, but a decision in a late case at Port Townsend would indicate that the sailors are not always in the wrong. The ship Edward O'Brien arrived there from San Pedro a few days since and the captain entered a complaint against the crew for refusing duty. The complaint, the court decided, was groundless, and the captain was ordered to take them back to San Pedro. The crew state that the captain refused them any beef for several days, and hence they refused any duty excepting that necessary to bring the vessel into port. As the sailors shipped from San Pedro return at $45 per month, while wages here are but $40 for the same voyage, it is probable that some of the trouble came from this.

Faith in the Future.

Several important banking corporations are already showing considerable faith in the future of our newest Pacific city. The Bank of British Columbia has built extensive premises in the town and some time ago sent Mr. Keith to manage its affairs and the Bank of British North America is preparing, we are told, to open immediately. The Bank of Montreal has also erected premises in the city and has transferred one of its well-known managers, Mr. Campbell-Sweeney—an Ontario man by the way—from Halifax to the Pacific. Mr. Sweeney was formerly manager at Winnipeg for the bank. Besides these three public companies, one or two private banks have started. Just a year ago this month the place was burned down, all except one house, so the rise of the new city has been most rapid and the faith in its future is being evidenced in influential quarters.—Montreal Times.

Miss Kate Field.

This celebrated lady lectures this evening at the Victoria Theatre on Charles Dickens, and to-morrow night a moral and humorous entertainment, "Eyes and Ears in London," will be given. The Boston Traveler says: "Miss Kate Field, who has written much and about whom much has been written, made her first appearance last evening, with a unique entertainment entitled "A Musical Folly, or Eyes and Ears in London." It was no small undertaking for a lady to attempt to interest such an audience, composed of the most critical of our people, for two successive hours; but Miss Field more than realized the expectations which had been raised. The lady first gave a fanciful account of a balloon journey from America to London, and then followed in rapid succession, a series of songs, clever bits of satire, and pungent sayings, so good-naturedly put as to repeatedly bring down the house. Some nice musical selections were given with exceedingly good effect, the artist's voice showing the most careful training. The burlesques on "The lady with the sweet low voice just united to a drawing-room," and on the Italian opera, the reading from "Macbeth," and the "Speech of a City Swell," proved to be the happiest bits of the evening. The dialogue is just what one might expect from a brilliant woman who has instantaneously photographed the peculiarities of our British cousins, added to a power of compelling her auditors to see and hear through her eyes and ears."

A Valuable Building Stone.

Samples of the stone from the Cobble Hill sand stone quarries are to be seen at the marble and stone dressing yards of Mr. John Mortimer, Government street, near James Bay bridge. A miniature wall has been built of this stone by Mr. Mortimer in rock, rubble and hammer dressed face stones. Cut stones are also on exhibition. Builders, especially stone masons, who are familiar with this class of work, speak very favorably of the quality of the stone for building purposes. It is a much harder one than the red sand stone of Ontario or the grey free stone of Ohio. When dressed as above, however, it looks well, and a complete building, especially a residence built of this stone in an artistic manner, would be very attractive. Rock dressed corners with hammer dressed stones for face work on a building, properly tape pointed, at once presents an appearance of strength and durability such as no other material can vie with. It is said that the difference between this stone and brick is so trifling that the latter cannot compete with it. The quality appears to improve as the surface is left. In quantity it is practically inexhaustible. Mr. Mortimer has secured the right to quarry this stone from Mr. Dunsmuir, the charge outside of the haul by the railway from the quarries to this city being a mere nominal one. The Messrs. Innes have control of the teaming. It is understood that Mr. Dunsmuir's new palatial residence is to be erected with this stone. Others no doubt will soon follow in his wake and its use shortly will become very general.
